

LIMESTONE
TRAVERTINE

LIMESTONE is a distinguished sedimentary stone that has been valued in architecture for centuries. Quarried from renowned regions such as Portugal, Spain, Turkey, and France, limestone forms through the accumulation of shells, corals, and algae, or through mineral crystallization in marine environments.

This natural process often leaves subtle fossils and marine markings within the stone, adding depth and character to its appearance.

Known for its durability and timeless aesthetic, limestone is widely used in both residential and commercial applications. Natural Stone Resources offers a comprehensive selection of limestone in a range of colors, finishes, and sizes, including field tiles, mosaics, trims, slabs, pavers, copings, wall caps, and veneers.

TRAVERTINE is a natural stone created by the accumulation of mineral deposits from hot springs, leading to a distinctive porous surface marked by pits and holes. This stone is recognized for its unique texture, which features visible voids and veins that can be filled or left open, based on aesthetic preferences. The natural travertine tones range from soft ivory and light creamy white to rich golden walnut and honey tones, silvery gray, dark red, and warm coffee tones.

Travertine is a durable and long-lasting natural stone, noted for its resistance to scratches, heat, and moisture. This adaptable material is suitable for various uses, such as flooring, walls, patios, pool decks, countertops, and wall cladding in commercial and residential settings.

Natural Stone Resources provides a range of travertine options in different colors, finishes, and sizes. Their product lineup includes field tiles, mosaics, trims, slabs, pavers, pool copings, wall caps, veneers, and flagstones.

LIMESTONE & TRAVERTINE

Available Sizes & Formats

Our Limestone and Travertine collections are offered in a range of sizes and formats designed to suit a variety of architectural and design applications. From smaller tiles suited for detailed layouts to larger formats that create a clean, seamless look, each size offers flexibility for both residential and commercial spaces.

In addition to traditional tiles, the collection also includes architectural stone veneers such as ledger panels, 4xFree Length and 8xFree Length formats, along with a complete outdoor offering of pavers and copings. These versatile formats support multiple installation patterns, from straight lay to modular layouts, allowing both classic and contemporary designs across floors, walls, facades, and outdoor spaces.
